

United Nursery
Premium Provider of High Quality Plants

Sound, Strategic Growth

At United Nursery, we are intensely focused on driving quality, innovation and differentiation throughout every level of our business. This commitment helps seed our success by creating alignment around a single purpose in which every member of our team shares a common values system, as well as a strong performance-driven culture to produce and ship the cleanest, most beautiful, healthy plants while maintaining strict quality and environmentally safe standards throughout our facility.

This is our mission and it is a very powerful and differentiating core equity of our business that has helped enhance our working relationships with our customers and suppliers. In the coming pages, we invite you to explore the growing reasons why you should experience the United Nursery difference.

Deeply Rooted Beginnings

United Nursery was established in 2001 from very simple beginnings. The owner's have taken their passion for farming and turned it into a business that caters to a strong retail clientele in every segment from chain stores, supermarkets and exclusive garden centers all throughout the United States and Canada. They, together with our leadership team, actively participate in the day-to-day business, promoting a strict quality control program, which includes having a specialized Horticultural Engineer on staff. They, along with five trained assistants, scout plants around the clock to ensure that we consistently have the deepest, broadest and highest quality plant offerings that our customers demand.

Our 142 acres located in historic Homestead, Florida is rich with a large selection of fertile foliage, blooming plants, palm trees, ferns and topiaries – of these, 102 acres are in year-round production. Our facilities are specially designed and fully equipped to produce the best quality plants in the industry with 50 acres of shade-housing that shelters grown foliage for interior use and wide open space that allows for adequate sun for our brilliantly colorful flowering varieties. In addition, we have a variety of greenhouses to produce our own propagation material and a state-of-the-art shipping facility that allows for a team of six employees per conveyor to thoroughly clean each plant individually in an effort to guarantee the best final product.

A Budding Success

Our strict quality control program is the secret to our success and why so many of our customers continue to source their plants from us. Undoubtedly, we utilize the right mix of cutting edge technology, team expertise and precise location. Beginning with cuttings from our own stock plants, only the best are selected for rooting, guaranteeing an ideal starting point for strong, fertile plants. We also incorporate tissue culture liners from the most respected and recognized plant labs in the industry to ensure consistent quality in all varieties.

Our highly trained team of professionals spends countless hours researching, locating and acquiring the best quality and most reliable materials, including custom soil mixes, fertilizers, planets and chemicals. Once in the field, our plants are monitored daily and treated to prevent diseases and pests while remaining in compliance with all government regulations. When plants reach maturity, our growers, along with a specialized crew, trim and treat them using the latest techniques to assure the plants meet the required specifications in shape, size and cleanliness to achieve their best condition for shipping.

Prior to shipping, all of our plants strictly follow our detailed quality control requirements to ensure that each and every plant shipped complies with all of our customer standards. Following quality control, our plants undergo the careful scrutiny of our shipping facility, which is fully equipped and operated by a well seasoned team who packs the plants in a number of ways, including loose stacked, boxed or racked in any configuration available to meet our customers' requirements.

Stewardship of the Land

We grow responsibly. Environmental concerns are an increasingly significant part of our focus in terms of our Corporate Social Responsibility program. We recognize that these concerns often go hand-in-hand with our mandate to grow and procure products and services that contribute to the overall health and sustainability of our environment. The entire team at United Nursery possesses this shared sense of pride and responsibility to the land and foliage we cultivate, and this commitment goes beyond our product offerings, well into the growing and packaging elements of our supply chain. To this end, we provide our customers the choice of selecting more environmentally friendly products and help educate them about the products that are good for the environment. In addition, we use organic chemicals and fertilizers on our plants and work collaboratively with our suppliers to source biodegradable materials that are environmentally sound and good for our ecosystem.

Product Offerings

United Nursery delivers exceptional variety. Our product offerings include:

- Foliage – 14-16 varieties
- Ferns – Boston Fern Hanging Basket, Kimberly Queens Hanging Basket and Uprights
- Blooming – 8-10 varieties including trees, braids, corks, trellis and bush items
- Palms – 4-6 varieties including Cats, Majesty, Chinese Fan, Robeline's and more
- Topiaries – Eugenia 1 ball, 2 ball, 3 ball, Cones and Spirals in a variety of pot sizes

Growing United

For years, United Nursery has had a clear and singular focus: to exceptionally deliver premium plants while maintaining strict quality and environmentally safe standards to hundreds of customers throughout United States and Canada. These attributes are imperative to our continued growth and on-going success. We are committed to growing with our clients – well beyond their expectations. Our seasoned teams have the skills, dedication and passion to drive excellence and stand ready and united to serve you.

United Nursery
Premium Provider of High Quality Plants

UNITED NURSERY 30401 SW 217th Avenue, Homestead, FL 33030 / Office: 786-243-0905 / Fax: 786-243-3733